

LEC2 TECH WEBS

Nov 15th to 18th

FREE of charge training sessions

Target Audience:

LEC2 in close cooperation with Lattice Semiconductor Inc. and Telsys Ltd. is conducting a series of advanced technical trainings targeted to existing or future Lattice device users.

Multiple Webcast sessions are conducted to cover the following subjects:

- FPGA Architectures
- FPGA Design best practices
- Lattice Software Design tools
- Timing Constraints & Timing closure
- Design Implementation & Programming
- HDL for Synthesis
- HDL for Simulation
- Debugging Techniques

Webinar Objective:

The objective of the TechWebs is to accelerate learning curve for users of Lattice FPGAs. In this webinar series we will cover FPGA design and simulation techniques, device architecture and primitives, design timing constraint and closure.

LEC2's training and education program is characterized by detailed technical content (not a marketing format) where we discuss design techniques and best practices based on expertise of professional trainers.
